FIRST ANNOUNCEMENT

NATIONAL DOCTORAL SCHOOL IN ELECTRICAL ENGINEERING
"FERDINANDO GASPARINI"

29TH TRAINING SCHOOL

NAPLES, 15–19 FEBRUARY 2027

Introduction

The 29th edition of the training school of the "Ferdinando Gasparini" National Doctoral School in Electrical Engineering is scheduled for February 2027. The School helps training researchers in topics of interest to the National Electrical Engineering Group and in related areas of application. By bringing together research conducted within the Group, the School's courses encourage a multidisciplinary approach. Participants gain methodological and scientific knowledge for basic and applied research, along with training and guidance in research management and entrepreneurship in the Group's fields of interest.

The National Group organises the programme through the School Director with the School Board and support from the CREATE Consortium and the University of Naples Federico II. The programme is primarily intended for doctoral students, whose tutors are researchers from the National Group. It is also open to faculty members and researchers from the Group and to other professionals interested in the topics covered. The School's website provides a history of its activities and a list of past training schools (https://www.create.unina.it/scuolagasparini/).

Preliminary Programme

The training school will take place in person. The provisional schedule in the table below includes the following activities:

- two courses, each with 10 hours of lectures
    - Prof. Flavia Grassi, "Electromagnetic Compatibility"
    - Prof. Aurelio Uncini, "Computational Intelligence for Electrical Engineering"
- a mini-symposium on the proposed topic "Social, Legal and Ethical Aspects of Artificial Intelligence"
- seminars by School alumni on their career paths
- seminars by participants on their current research projects
- social and cultural activities

All participants will receive a certificate of attendance. Students who wish to be assessed may do so under arrangements to be announced. Students who pass the assessment will receive a certificate of achievement.
